

Thinking of attending CTIA in Las Vegas?

CTIA is the largest wireless technology and services event in North America with over 1,100 companies exhibiting. The event brings together 40,000 professionals from over 120 countries.

Innovation Norway, in partnership with IKT Norge and Wireless Future, is offering a package of services to assist Norwegian companies that attend.

CTIA is being held in Las Vegas, Nevada, USA from 1-3 April, 2009

CTIA is big, very big. Virtually all the players in the wireless industry will be there, from service providers to technology vendors. It is an excellent opportunity to meet with potential partners, customers, and industry influencers. But, by being so big, CTIA presents a challenge. How do I get the most out of attending? Should I have a booth. How can I set up meetings there?

To help address these challenges Innovation Norway, in partnership with IKT Norge and Wireless Future, is offering a package of services designed to assist Norwegian companies in attending CTIA.

The Offer includes the following;

- Two hours of assistance from Innovation Norway in identifying, contacting and setting up meetings with parties attending CTIA that are mutually identified.
- Up to three hours of private meeting space near the show floor.
- A networking, breakfast reception featuring a wireless industry executive as a speaker.

The package is designed to make your presence at CTIA beneficial to your business development efforts. You should also come away with a much better understanding of the opportunities in the North American wireless market.
